

ABC Friends ACT Region presents:

Public Broadcasting in the Pub

Attacks on the ABC: In whose interests?

The ABC's independence and funding is under threat, with an "inquiry" prompted by Pauline Hanson and powerful private media interests attempting to undermine it.

Come and hear

Ranald Macdonald, former editor-in-chief of The Age, broadcaster - and Collingwood Football Club President

Together with Canberra's own David Kilby as MC

Speak on the challenges facing those who value the ABC's role in promoting independent Australian journalism, drama and good music – and what you can do about it.

Tuesday 28 November 2017 - From 5.15 to 6.15pm

Civic Pub*

8 Lonsdale St, Braddon
(upstairs in the Whisky Room)

 Don't know it? Go somewhere new!

Just over Cooyong St on your right going north, next to Mountain Designs.
Parking's tight so try Civic car parks or Torrens, Fawkner Streets.

"We have an immense national asset, a tremendous legacy. Its job is to connect us, to help maintain some common understandings of who we are, the issues we face, and the values we share. We have to hope that our own generation will not be the one that allows that to slip away." - Margaret Simons, journalist & writer
